CURRICULUM

I am Associate Professor of History of Medicine at the University of Milano Bicocca. I also work as occupational physician at San Gerardo Hospital in Monza and, currently, I am the Head of the Occupational Health Service of the University of Milano-Bicocca.

During my PhD I conducted research in the field of history of biostatistics and epidemiology, history of neuro-psychiatry and in the field of paleodemography and paleoepidemiology. From 2008 I was appointed as Scientific Secretary of the Research Centre on the History of Biomedical Thought (CESPEB, Centro Studio sulla Storia del Pensiero Biomedico) of the University of Milano-Bicocca. In the period 2009-2015, I was appointed as Chair of ICOH Scientific Committee on History of Prevention of Occupational and Environmental Diseases. I received a Service Award by ICOH in 2015. During my mandate as Chair of ICOH Scientific Committee on History, I co-organized several international conferences around the world on the history of Occupational Health (San Francisco, Rotterdam, Gothenburg, Cancun, Seoul).

I was Project leader of two projects, granted FENS, Federation of European Neurological Societies. I also won "Dr. Dimitrije Pivnicki Award in Neuro and Psychiatric History 2019" OF Osler Library, Montreal Canada. Currently, I am Scientific Coordinator of BRIC INAIL project "Italian physicians and scientists in ILO. Italy and the creation of a global system for health and safety at work (1919-1999). In 2015, I co-organized an exhibition on history of sanatorium of Sondalo (Italy, in collaboration with the Polytechnic University of Milan. Member of the Editorial Board of two international journals.

During my career, my fields of study were history of Occupational Health, history of Neuroscience, Paleodemography and Paleoepidemiology, Since the beginning of my academic carrier in 2010, I have authored 250 papers, of whom 142 indexed, 3 authored books, 21 book chapters, 86 communications at national congresses and 31 at international congresses. Among the indexed papers, 58 as first author, with overall 208 citations, achieving H-index equal to 8 (Scopus database). The number of overall citations has progressively increased.
